Bank Wreckers to Stand Trial.

The Attorney General received a proposition some time ago on behalf of W. S. Varner and J. Henry York to refund to the creditors of the Marine Bank the full amount of checks for $152,800, issued by the present indolent management of the bank, which were cashed by the bank and were found. The government has declined to accept the proposition, and the accused will have to stand their trial.

Our Thanks!

We beg to tender our thanks to the citizens of Washington and vicinity for the generous patronage bestowed on us during many years, and especially so during the last four months. So many of you have expressed to us in person the wish that our enterprise may succeed that we announce with the greatest satisfaction that the sales of the new firm have more than doubled the joint receipts of the late firms of
A. Saks & Co. and Geo. C.
Henning. Before the doors of our house were opened—in fact, long before the building was commenced—one of the stipulations agreed upon was there must be no Brass Bands and no Souvenirs to attract people or induce them to come and see us. The people have come solely on the merit of the goods we offer them and the prices we name, and it is for this that we are truly grateful. Many years ago we learned the wisdom of the saying,

"Never load a cannon to shoot a fly!" hence we have refrained from replying to the calumnies of envious dealers, believing that the Public would take them at their true value.

During the coming year we shall enlarge the facilities of every department now in our building and add thereto several others.

Improvements calculated to better serve the people will also be introduced, the character of which business prudence forbids our mentioning at present.

In the opening of our new departments we necessarily were on an experimental basis, and if there were any shortcomings, and we have no doubt there were, they were unavoidable, and not likely to occur again. We can only add that during the next year we shall serve you better than ever.

Very respectfully,

Saks & Company

Jan. 1st, 1886.

A Happy New Year!

There is a magic witchery in these words for both the old and young. To those whose sun is west of the meridian they recall glorious visions of long ago. The call, the reception, the invitation to remain, conveyed with such womanly tact as to make each particular caller imagine he alone was the favored one. The recollection of gracious interest evinced by the fairest rosebud in the garden of girls.

Dear boys, all this is in store for you. As our fathers lived and loved, so shall
